SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Current law does not permit the naming of a state building for a living person unless specifically provided by law.

The bill designates the entire site at 2600 Blair Stone Road in Tallahassee, Florida, which houses a building and a laboratory facility for the Department of Environmental Protection, as the "Bob Martinez Center" and directs the Department of Management Services to erect suitable markers.

This bill does not appear to create, modify, or eliminate rulemaking authority.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on local governments and the fiscal impact on state government will depend on the type of markers which are erected.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

This bill does not appear to implicate any of the House Principles.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Section 267.062, Florida Statutes, prohibits the naming of any state building, road, bridge, park, recreational complex, or other similar facility for any living person except as specifically provided by law.

The site at 2600 Blair Stone Road in Tallahassee, Florida, houses a building and a laboratory facility for the Department of Environmental Protection. The bill designates the entire site as the "Bob Martinez Center" and directs the Department of Management Services to erect suitable markers.

Robert "Bob" Martinez served as Florida's 40th Governor from 1987-1991, the state's first American Governor of Hispanic descent. Martinez was also the second Republican governor since Reconstruction. He was born and raised in Tampa, later attending the University of Tampa. He served as mayor of Tampa for seven years. As Governor, he championed the Surface Water Improvement and Management Act (also known as the SWIM program), which established uniform policies for managing and protecting Florida's surface waters. He also supported an innovative solid waste disposal program.¹

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Designates the Bob Martinez Center and directs suitable markers to be erected.

Section 2: Provides an effective date of July 1, 2006.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

This bill does not appear to create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

Funding for suitable markers is required. The Department of Management Services estimates the cost at approximately $30,000.² Final costs, however, will depend on the type of markers erected.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

This bill does not appear to create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

This bill does not appear to create, modify, amend, or eliminate local expenditures.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

On January 11, 2006, the Governmental Operations Committee adopted a strike-all amendment and reported the bill favorably with committee substitute. Since there is an office building and a laboratory at 2600 Blirstone Road in Tallahassee, Florida, the strike-all amendment designates the entire site as the Bob Martinez Center.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public records and each public meetings exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it is automatically repealed on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

The bill reenacts the public records exemption for personal identifying information held by a non-Title IV-D county child support agency. The exemption will repeal on October 2, 2006, if this bill does not become law.

This bill may have a minimal non-recurring positive fiscal impact on local governments. This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state government.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

This bill does not appear to implicate any of the House Principles.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

The court may order either or both parents who owe a duty of support to a child to pay support, based on guidelines provided in law.¹ The State of Florida, through the Department of Revenue (DOR) and through the Dade County State Attorney's Office (for cases in Miami-Dade County) and the Manatee County Clerk of Court (for cases in Manatee County) under contract with the DOR, offers child support enforcement services to certain individuals who receive or believe they are entitled to receive child support. These are "Title IV-D" services provided in accordance with Title IV-D of the Social Security Act. Such services provided by the DOR and its contractors include:

- Establishment of paternity;
- Establishment of a support order;
- Modification of support orders;
- Collection of child support; and
- Enforcement of support orders.

Parents applying for or receiving public assistance must use Title IV-D child support enforcement services. Custodial parents of children who are not receiving public assistance may choose to avail themselves of the DOR's child support enforcement services. Information that identifies individuals using DOR's child support enforcement services is confidential and exempt from public records requirements;² this is required under federal law.

Broward County offers a more limited array of child support enforcement services for parents who are not required to use Title IV-D services but wish to receive similar services and who meet certain requirements.³ These services are "non-Title IV-D" services.⁴ In particular, Broward County collects child support and enforces support orders.

Current law provides a public records exemption for information that identifies individuals using non-Title IV-D county child support enforcement services.⁵ Information made confidential and exempt⁶ includes "any information that reveals the identity of applicants for or recipients of child support services, including the name, address, and telephone number of such persons, in the possession of a

³ According to Broward County Support Unit staff, a support order must already have been entered, both parties must live in Florida, and at least one of the parties must live in Broward County. Additionally, the party seeking support must not have retained a private attorney to collect the support.

⁴ Counties' Clerks of Court may provide depository services; however, this is not child support enforcement. Records relating to depository services administered by a Clerk of Court are specifically excluded from the definition of "non-Title IV-D county child support enforcement agency".

⁶ There is a difference between records that are exempt from public records requirements and those that are confidential and exempt. If the Legislature makes a record confidential and exempt, such record cannot be released by an agency to anyone other than to the persons or entities designated in the statute. See Attorney General Opinion 85-62. If a record is simply made exempt from disclosure requirements, an agency is not prohibited from disclosing the record in all circumstances. See Williams v. City of Minneola, 575 So.2d 683, 687 (Fla. 5th DCA), review denied, 589 So.2d 289 (Fla. 1991).

non-Title IV-D county child support enforcement agency . . ." The statute permits disclosure of the information under limited circumstances, such as during investigations, prosecutions, or criminal or civil proceedings connected with the administration of the non-Title IV-D county child support enforcement program and when required by certain state or federal laws. The non-Title IV-D county child support enforcement agency, however, cannot disclose the name, address, or whereabouts of an applicant, recipient, or child to a person against whom a protective order has been entered if the county agency has reason to believe that the release of information to such person could harm the applicant, recipient, or child.⁷

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act,⁸ the exemption will repeal on October 2, 2006, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

Effect of Bill

The bill removes the repeal date, thereby reenacting the public records exemption. It also makes editorial changes.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 61.1827, F.S., to remove the repeal date.

Section 2 provides an effective date of October 1, 2006.

2. Expenditures:

None. This bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate state expenditures.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

None. This bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

The bill may represent a minimal non-recurring positive impact on local government expenditures. A bill enacting or amending a public records exemption causes a non-recurring negative fiscal impact in the year of enactment as a result of training employees responsible for replying to public records requests. In the case of bills reviewed under the Open Government Sunset Review process, training costs are incurred if the bill does not pass or if the exemption is amended, as retraining is required. Because the bill eliminates the repeal of the exemption, local governments may recognize a minimal nonrecurring decrease in expenditures because employee-training activities are avoided.

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The Open Government Sunset Review Act sets forth a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public records or public meetings exemptions. It requires an automatic repeal of the exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.

The Act provides that a public records or public meetings exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose, and may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allowing the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;
- Protecting sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety. However, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision; or,
- Protecting trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required because of the requirements of Art. 1, s. 24(c), Florida Constitution. If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created (e.g., allowing another agency access to the confidential or exempt records), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public record and each public meeting exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it automatically repeals on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

The bill reenacts and narrows the public records exemption for certain identification and location information regarding an employee relations director, assistant director, manager, or assistant manager of a local government agency or water management district. It also reenacts and narrows the public records exemption for certain identification and location information regarding the spouse or child of that manager. The exemption will repeal on October 2, 2006, if this bill does not become law.

The bill may have a minimal non-recurring fiscal impact on local governments. The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state government.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide limited government – The bill narrows the public records exemption thereby increasing public access to government information.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Public Records Exemption for Certain Local Government Managers

Current law provides a public records exemption for certain identification and location information regarding a current or former employee relations director, assistant director, manager, or assistant manager (manager) of a local government agency or water management district.¹ Specifically, the home address, telephone number, social security number, and photograph of the manager are exempt² from public disclosure. In addition, a public records exemption exists for the:

- Name, home address, telephone number, social security number, photograph and place of employment of the spouse of the manager; and
- Name, home address, telephone number, social security number, photograph, place of employment, and the name and location of the school or daycare facility attended by the child of the manager.

Further, an agency, other than the employing agency, must maintain the exempt status of the identification and location information upon receipt of a written request by the affected manager or that manager's employer.³

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act,⁴ the exemption will repeal on October 2, 2006, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

Open Government Sunset Review of the Exemption

House staff reviewed the public records exemption pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act and determined that, with modification, the exemption meets the requirements for reenactment.⁵ Staff concluded that certain information currently protected by the public records exemption either is protected by a more general public records exemption or is not maintained by the employing agency. A narrower public records exemption protects the release of social security numbers.⁶ The employing agency does not maintain the photograph of the spouse or child of the manager.

² There is a difference between records that are exempt from public records requirements and those that are confidential and exempt. If the Legislature makes a record confidential and exempt, such record cannot be released by an agency to anyone other than to the persons or entities designated in the statute. See Attorney General Opinion 85-62. If a record is simply made exempt from disclosure requirements, an agency is not prohibited from disclosing the record in all circumstances. See Williams v. City of Minneola, 575 So.2d 683, 687 (Fla. 5th DCA), review denied, 589 So.2d 289 (Fla. 1991).

⁵ Staff surveyed and interviewed managers as part of the review process.

⁶ Section 119.071(5)(a), F.S.

Effect of Bill

The bill removes the repeal date, thereby reenacting the public records exemption. It narrows the public records exemption by removing the exemption for the photograph of the spouse or child of a manager. The bill removes the duplicative public records exemption for social security numbers.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 119.071(4)(d), F.S., to reenact and narrow the public records exemption for managers.

Section 2 provides an effective date of October 1, 2006.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

On January 11, 2006, the Governmental Operations Committee adopted an amendment to PCB GO 06-02 and reported the bill favorably. The current public records exemption for information concerning a child of a local government manager was inadvertently removed from the bill. The amendment reinstated the application of that exemption.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public records and each public meetings exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it automatically repeals on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

The bill reenacts and narrows the public records exemption for certain identification and location information regarding a code enforcement officer and that officer's spouse or child. The exemption will repeal on October 2, 2006, if this bill does not become law.

The bill may have a minimal non-recurring fiscal impact on local governments. The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state government.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide limited government – The bill narrows the public records exemption thereby increasing public access to government information.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Public Records Exemption for Code Enforcement Officers

Code enforcement officers (officers) are responsible for the administration of a wide range of health, safety, and environmental regulations. Current law provides a public records exemption for certain identification and location information regarding a current or former officer.¹ Specifically, the home address, telephone number, social security number, and photograph of the officer are exempt from public disclosure. In addition, a public records exemption exists for the:

- Name, home address, telephone number, social security number, photograph and place of employment of the spouse of the officer; and
- Name, home address, telephone number, social security number, photograph, place of employment, and the name and location of the school or daycare facility attended by the child of the officer.

Further, an agency, other than the employing agency, must maintain the exempt status of the identification and location information upon receipt of a written request by the officer or that officer's employer.²

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act,³ the exemption will repeal on October 2, 2006, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

Open Government Sunset Review of the Exemption

House staff reviewed the public records exemption pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act and determined that, with modification, the exemption meets the requirements for reenactment.⁴ Staff concluded that certain information currently protected by the public records exemption either is protected by a more general public records exemption or is not maintained by the employing agency. A narrower public records exemption protects the release of social security numbers.⁵ The employing agency does not maintain the photograph of the spouse or child of the officer.

Effect of Bill

The bill removes the repeal date, thereby reenacting the public records exemption. It narrows the public records exemption by removing the exemption for the photograph of the spouse or child of an officer. The bill removes the duplicative public records exemption for social security numbers. It also makes editorial changes.

Section 2 provides an effective date of October 1, 2006.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

None. The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

None. The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate state expenditures.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

None. The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

The bill may represent a minimal non-recurring positive impact on local government expenditures. A bill enacting or amending a public records exemption causes a non-recurring negative fiscal impact in the year of enactment as a result of training employees responsible for replying to public records requests. In the case of bills reviewed under the Open Government Sunset Review process, training costs are incurred if the bill does not pass or if the exemption is amended, as retraining is required. Because the bill eliminates the repeal of the exemption, local governments may recognize a minimal nonrecurring decrease in expenditures because employee-training activities are avoided.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

None.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

None.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

The bill does not require counties or municipalities to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds. The bill does not reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities. The bill does not reduce the authority that municipalities have to raise revenue.

2. Other:

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The Open Government Sunset Review Act sets forth a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public records or public meetings exemptions. It requires an automatic repeal of the exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.

The Act provides that a public records or public meetings exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose, and may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allowing the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;
- Protecting sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety. However, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision; or,
- Protecting trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required because of the requirements of Art. 1, s. 24(c), Florida Constitution. If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created (e.g., allowing another agency access to the confidential or exempt records), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public records and each public meetings exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it automatically repeals on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

Data processing software is a public record under Florida law. As a result, the general authority permitting agencies to copyright and sell their software based upon market considerations is, in effect, an exemption from public records requirements.

The bill retains the authority for an agency to copyright data processing software and to sell that software based upon market conditions. It also makes editorial changes. This authority will repeal on October 2, 2006, if the bill does not become law.

The bill may have a limited fiscal impact on state and local governments.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

This bill does not appear to implicate any of the House Principles.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Copyright Authority

The Federal Copyright Act of 1976¹ protects “original works of authorship fixed in any tangible medium of expression, now known or later developed, from which they can be perceived, reproduced, or otherwise communicated, either directly or with the aid of a machine or device.” To be subject to copyright, a work must be original, an independent creation of the author, and “fixed in any tangible medium,” such as the written word, sound recordings, and visual images. Copyright protection is available only for an expression of an idea and not for the idea itself.²

Works created by an officer or employee of the United States government, as part of his or her duties, are in the public domain and cannot be copyrighted.³ Federal law, however, does not prohibit copyright of works produced by other governmental entities.⁴ As a result, state and local governments may copyright their works depending upon the law of the jurisdiction.⁵ As state governments do not come under the federal prohibition,⁶ Florida law determines whether an agency may obtain a copyright.⁷

In Florida, an agency may not copyright its works without specific statutory authority.⁸ The Legislature has provided general copyright authority for data processing software only.⁹

Data Processing Software

Data processing software¹⁰ is a public record under Florida law. As a result, the general authority permitting agencies¹¹ to copyright and sell their software based upon market considerations is, in effect, an exemption from public records requirements.¹² As such, the law enacting this authority contained a statement of public necessity in support of the authority delegated.¹³

An agency has authority to acquire and hold a copyright for data processing software created by the agency, and to enforce its copyright.¹⁴ The agency may sell or license the software to a public agency or private person. The agency may establish a price for the sale and a licensing fee for the use of the software based on market considerations. However, if the software is required by a user solely for access to information maintained or generated by the agency, pricing for the software defaults to the general fee structure for public records¹⁵ because that information is a public record and must be accessible.¹⁶

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act,¹⁷ the authority for agencies to copyright data processing software will expire October 2, 2006, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

Open Government Sunset Review Questionnaire

Agencies that responded to the Open Government Sunset Review questionnaire did not indicate a high level of use of the authority to copyright data processing software. Of the 20 state agencies that responded,¹⁸ only the Department of Juvenile Justice¹⁹ and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE)²⁰ indicated they had obtained copyrights for agency produced data processing software. Only FDLE stated that it had sold or licensed its copyrighted software.²¹ Of the 11 counties that responded to the questionnaire,²² only one indicated that it had acquired a copyright for data processing software. Sarasota County indicated it had acquired three copyrights. In fiscal year 2005, Sarasota County received $200,000 for software sales and in fiscal year 2006, it received $500,000 in sales. None of the 37 cities that responded to the questionnaire indicated that they had acquired a copyright for agency created software. Thus, only four percent of state agency and local government respondents indicated that they had obtained copyrights for data processing software.

No agency indicated that it had received a request from a user for a copy of the copyrighted software for the standard public record fee.

Given the small percentage of respondents who have actually obtained copyrights for agency-created data processing software and the smaller number who have actually sold copyrighted data processing

If no fee is prescribed, an agency may not charge more than 15 cents per one-sided copy for a 14"x 8½" page. For all other copies, an agency may charge for the "actual cost of duplication." The "actual cost of duplication" means the cost of material and supplies used to duplicate the record, but that does not include labor. Section 119.011(1), F.S. A special service charge is permitted in addition to the actual cost if the nature or volume of the records requested requires extensive use of information technology resources or extensive clerical or supervisory assistance.

¹⁹ The Department of Juvenile Justice indicated that it had obtained one copyright.

²⁰ FDLE responded that it had obtained two copyrights.

²¹ FDLE indicated that it sold or licensed one sale of copyrighted software for $75,000.

software, and given that the majority of respondents made no recommendation whether to retain the provision, it would appear that this general copyright authority has not been useful to most agencies. Nevertheless, some agencies are making use of the authority to copyright and sell agency-created data processing software. For this small group, substantial sums have been obtained and the agencies within this group have recommended retention of the authority. Further, one respondent noted that the ability of an agency to obtain a copyright might provide that agency with some advantage when negotiating with a vendor for the production of a software package for that entity. Thus, there are some practical benefits from this authority.

Effect of Bill

The bill removes the repeal date thereby retaining agency authority to copyright and sell data processing software. It also makes editorial changes.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 119.084, F.S., to remove the repeal date.

Section 2 provides an effective date of October 1, 2006.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

None. This bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

See FISCAL COMMENTS.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

None. This bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

See FISCAL COMMENTS.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

As most agencies do not produce or market software, the bill should result in minimal or no fiscal impact on the private sector.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

For most state and local governments, the bill will have limited fiscal impact because most did not report that they produce and market their software. In the few instances where state and local governments do produce and sell their software, the bill should have a positive fiscal impact.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

The bill does not require counties or municipalities to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds. The bill does not reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities. The bill does not reduce the authority that municipalities have to raise revenue.

HB 7013

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to a review under the Open Government Sunset Review Act regarding copyright of data processing software created by governmental agencies; amending s. 119.084, F.S., which authorizes an agency to acquire and hold a copyright for data processing software created by the agency and to enforce its rights pertaining to such copyright; making editorial changes; removing the scheduled repeal of the exemption under the Open Government Sunset Review Act; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 119.084, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

119.084 Copyright of data processing software created by governmental agencies; sale price and licensing fee.--

(1) As used in this section, "agency" has the same meaning as in s. 119.011(2), except that the term does not include any private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public records and each public meetings exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it automatically repeals on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

The bill reenacts the public records exemption for any information identifying the location of archaeological sites contained in site files and records maintained by the Division of Historical Resources of the Department of State when that division finds that disclosure of such information will create a substantial risk of harm, theft, or destruction at the sites. The exemption will repeal on October 2, 2006, if this bill does not become law.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on local governments. This bill may have a minimal non-recurring positive fiscal impact on state government.

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

This bill does not appear to implicate any of the House Principles.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Section 267.061(1)(a), F.S., declares that

[T]he rich and unique heritage of historic properties in this state, representing more than 10,000 years of human presence, is an important legacy to be valued and conserved for present and future generations. The destruction of these nonrenewable historical resources will engender a significant loss to the state's quality of life, economy, and cultural environment . . .

One element of the state's system of preserving historic properties is the maintenance of the Florida Master Site File ("site file"). The site file contains information on nearly 28,000 Florida archaeological sites in various formats, including electronic and paper.¹ The site file also contains information about other non-archaeological historic properties. The site file fulfills federal requirements contained in the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, as amended through 2000, codified in 16 U.S.C. 470a(b)(3)(a) to "conduct a comprehensive survey of historic properties and maintain inventories of such properties". Various parties utilize the information in the site file, including local government staff, consultants charged with preserving archeological and other historic sites, and researchers.

There have been recent incidents involving looting of archaeological sites on state land:²

- In May 2004, Department of Environmental Protection agents arrested two individuals who were digging at Newnan's Lake, a site that has evidence of an archaic American Indian occupation. According to the division, the digging heavily damaged the site. The damage assessment was $8,960.56.
- In May 2004, two individuals were arrested for unauthorized excavation and for removing arrowheads and tools at Enclave B on Southwest Florida Water Management District lands in Pasco County. The estimated cost of site damage was $37,249.82.
- In June 2005, Department of Environmental Protection officers arrested one individual for removing artifacts from sites in the Tomoka State Park in Volusia County.
- In March 2005, Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission officers arrested two individuals for digging at a site in the Lochloosa Wildlife Conservation Area. Based on information from the individuals, a subsequent review of other sites found widespread vandalism.

Current law provides a public records exemption for information identifying the location of an archaeological site contained in site files or other records maintained by the Division of Historical Resources of the Department of State if the division finds that disclosure of such information will create a substantial risk of harm, theft, or destruction at such site. Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act,³ the exemption will repeal on October 1, 2006, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

² Section 267.13, F.S., prohibits certain actions, including removing or otherwise altering any archeological site, upon any land owned or controlled by the state or within the boundaries of a designated state archeological landmark or landmark zone. The section of statute also provides for penalties ranging from misdemeanor to felony and administrative fines as well as forfeiture of any materials removed.

Effect of Bill

The bill removes the repeal date, thereby reenacting the public records exemption. It also makes editorial changes.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 267.135, F.S., to remove the repeal date.

Section 2 provides an October 1, 2006, effective date.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

None. This bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

The bill may represent a minimal non-recurring positive impact on state expenditures. A bill enacting or amending a public records exemption causes a non-recurring negative fiscal impact in the year of enactment as a result of training employees responsible for replying to public records requests. In the case of bills reviewed under the Open Government Sunset Review process, training costs are incurred if the bill does not pass or if the exemption is amended, as retraining is required. Because the bill eliminates the repeal of the exemption, state government may recognize a minimal nonrecurring decrease in expenditures because employee-training activities are avoided.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

None. This bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

None. This bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate local expenditures.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

None.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

None.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

³ Section 119.15, F.S.

This bill does not require counties or municipalities to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds. This bill does not reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities. This bill does not reduce the authority that municipalities have to raise revenue.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The Open Government Sunset Review Act sets forth a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public records or public meetings exemptions. It requires an automatic repeal of the exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.

The Act provides that a public records or public meetings exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose, and may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allowing the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;
- Protecting sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety. However, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision; or,
- Protecting trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required because of the requirements of Art. 1, s. 24(c), Florida Constitution. If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created (e.g., allowing another agency access to the confidential or exempt records), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

None.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public records and each public meetings exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it automatically repeals on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

The bill reenacts the public records and public meetings exemptions regarding incident reports reported by a nursing home or assisted living facility. The exemptions will repeal on October 2, 2006, if this bill does not become law.

The bill may have a minimal non-recurring positive fiscal impact on state government. The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on local government.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

This bill does not appear to implicate any of the House Principles.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

In 2001, the Legislature required nursing homes to implement an internal risk management and quality assurance program to investigate and analyze the frequency and cause of specific types of adverse incidents.¹ The Legislature also authorized assisted living facilities to voluntarily establish a risk management and quality assurance program.² Both are required to report adverse incidents to the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA).³

For purposes of reporting to AHCA, the term "adverse incident" means:

- An event over which facility personnel could exercise control and that is associated in whole or in part with the facility's intervention, and that results in:
 - Death;
 - Brain or spinal injury;
 - Permanent disfigurement;
 - Fracture or dislocation of bones or joints;
 - A limitation of neurological, physical, or sensory function;⁴
 - A condition that required medical attention to which the resident has not given his or her informed consent; or
 - Any condition that requires the transfer of the resident to a unit providing a more acute level of care due to the adverse incident;
- Abuse, neglect, or exploitation as defined in s. 415.102, F.S.;
- Abuse, neglect and harm as defined in s. 39.01, F.S.;⁵
- Resident elopement; or
- Events reported to law enforcement.⁶

Current law provides a public records and public meetings exemption with regards to incident reports.⁷ Incident reports filed with a facility's risk manager and administrator, notifications of the occurrence of an adverse incident, and adverse incident reports are confidential and exempt⁸ from public records

¹ Every nursing home must establish an internal risk management and quality assurance program to assess resident care practices; review facility quality indicators, facility incident reports, deficiencies cited by the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA), and resident grievances; and develop plans of action to correct and quickly respond to identified quality deficiencies. The nursing home administrator is responsible for the program. Subsections (1) and (2) of section 400.147, F.S.

² The purpose of the program is to assess resident care practices, facility incident reports, deficiencies cited by AHCA, adverse incident reports, and resident grievances. Section 400.423(1), F.S.

³ Sections 400.147(7), 400.147(8), 400.423(3), and 400.423(4), F.S.

⁴ This provision is not included in the definition of adverse incident for purposes of assisted living facility reporting.

⁵ This provision is not included in the definition of adverse incident for purposes of assisted living facility reporting.

⁶ Sections 400.147(5) and 400.423(2), F.S.

⁷ Section 400.119, F.S.

⁸ There is a difference between records that are exempt from public records requirements and those that are confidential and exempt. If the Legislature makes a record confidential and exempt, such record cannot be released by an agency to anyone other than to the persons or entities designated in the statute. See Attorney General Opinion 85-62. If a record is simply made exempt from disclosure requirements, an agency is not prohibited from disclosing the record in all requirements. Confidential and exempt records are available to a regulatory board for purposes of disciplinary action⁹ and to a law enforcement agency if criminal activity is suspected.¹⁰

Meetings of an internal risk management and quality assurance committee of a nursing home or assisted living facility are exempt from public meetings requirements.¹¹ Records of the exempt meetings are confidential and exempt from public records requirements.¹²

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act,¹³ the exemptions will repeal on October 2, 2006, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

Effect of Bill

The bill removes the repeal date, thereby reenacting the public records and public meetings exemptions. It makes editorial changes and reorganizes the section.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 400.119, F.S., to remove the October 2, 2006, repeal date.
